

Scranton To Run For President

Rocky Pledges To Fight On

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller vowed Thursday to fight on as a presidential hopeful, after New York's big delegation to the Republican National Convention formally endorsed his bid for the White House.

Only one dissenting vote—cast by a supporter of Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater—was recorded at the closed meeting of the delegation.

But at least six anti-Rockefeller delegates in the 92-member delegation were not present—two pledged to Goldwater and four who have refused to commit themselves to any candidate for the presidential nomination.

Indiana Demos Deny Wallace

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The Indiana Democratic State Committee took unanimous action Thursday on the eve of their state convention to deny Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace the three delegate votes he won in the May 5 Indiana presidential primary.

By unanimous vote the committee decided that all Indiana delegates to the Democratic National Convention be elected at large rather than by congressional districts.

The action means the entire 51-vote delegation will be bound on the first Democratic National Convention ballot to President Johnson. Gov. Matthew E. Welsh won the state's presidential primary as a stand-in for the President.

General Walker Denies Charge

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Edwin A. Walker testified Thursday that never during the 1962 desegregation crisis at the University of Mississippi did he lead student rioters in a charge on United States marshals.

"I never had anything to do with the activities of the students toward the marshals," he told a Tarrant County District Court jury hearing his $2-million libel suit against The Associated Press.

The former major general claimed he was falsely represented in Associated Press dispatches from Oxford, Miss., as leading a charge of students Sept. 30, 1962. Two men were killed in the night of disorders set off by the admission to the university of James Meredith, a Negro.

Turkish-Greek War Scare Fades

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkish leaders radiated optimism Thursday that a military showdown over Cyprus can be avoided with Greece, after talking with U.S. Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

"We are on the way to find a solution," Premier Ismet Inonu told reporters shortly after Ball left for Washington. "The allies have made and are making efforts to resolve the question between Greece and Turkey."

Banana 'Copters' Leaving Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Thundering along near the Cambodian border, 20 banana-shaped H21 helicopters flew into Communist Viet Cong territory Thursday on their final operation in South Viet Nam.

Slim, maneuverable UH1B Hueys—will take over from the unwieldy H21s—long the workhorse helicopter in Viet Nam.

Stocks Continue Up On Light Day

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market nudged through its third straight daily advance Thursday but on the lightest trading since Aug. 20, 1963.

Volume shrank to 3.66 million shares from 4.18 million Wednesday and was the smallest since 3.68 million shares changed hands on the 1963 date.

The Dow Jones Industrial average rose 3.72 to 811.25, thereby proving that it could penetrate theoretical upside resistance around the 810 level.

Weather

Local Forecast — Mostly sunny and a little warmer today. High temperature today between 72 and 78 degrees. Sun rises 5:30 a.m., sets 8:29 p.m.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton will announce Friday he will seek the Republican nomination for President, sources close to him reported Thursday night.

The sources said the governor will tell the Maryland Republican convention Friday afternoon that he will go into the fight for the nomination until the issue is settled. The move would put Scranton, 46, in direct opposition to U. S. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who holds a commanding lead in the battle for delegates at the GOP National Convention in San Francisco next month.

Scranton was described as deeply disturbed that leadership within the moderate wing of the Republican party has faltered. The sources indicated that Scranton will tell the Maryland organization that he feels there must be what he will describe as responsible leadership within the GOP.

Earlier this week, the Pennsylvania governor, in the second year of his term, was virtually ruled out as a prospect for the nomination, almost clearing the way for Goldwater. The situation developed after a meeting last Saturday with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, at which Eisenhower urged Scranton to make himself "more available."

Scranton last Sunday in a national television appearance from the governor's conference at Cleveland made a declaration of availability, but apparently had planned to go further at the time until Eisenhower reportedly suggested that he not participate in any stop-Goldwater movement. The development is a reversal of Scranton's previous position that he is not a candidate, but would accept a "sincere and honest draft." He had maintained this position all along up until Thursday night.

Civil Rights Vote

The sources indicated that a key factor influenced Scranton's decision was Goldwater's vote Wednesday against ending the filibuster on civil rights. Scranton has been an outspoken advocate of civil rights and has said in several major political addresses that the GOP cannot sacrifice any civil rights position to gain some temporary support from the South.

Bensinger Offers To Quit WRA Over Conflict Charge

PHILADELPHIA — Charles R. (Chud) Bensinger, Stroudsburg attorney, has offered to resign as president of the Water Resources Assn. of the Delaware River Basin if 48 other directors feel criticism of him is "seriously impairing the prestige" of the association.

He was criticized Tuesday for promoting the Tocks Island National Recreation Area as president of the association while profiting from development of Hidden Lake real estate lots within the proposed area by Western Heritage Properties Ltd., of which he is a director.

Frank W. Dressler, executive secretary of the WRA/DRB, said at the association's Philadelphia office yesterday that initial response from directors "was unanimously favorable to Chud. They don't think he is guilty of conflict of interest of any kind. They're behind him on this."

The criticism came during a Washington hearing of the House Subcommittee on National Parks from Mrs. Nancy Shukatis, secretary of the Monroe County Republican Committee.

She lives near Hidden Lake in Middle Smithfield Township on land which will be inundated by the Tocks Island Dam and Reservoir, and opposes the projects. Bensinger said in a letter, released yesterday, to Rep. Thomas G. Harris, chairman of the subcommittee, that "I do not believe I am guilty of a conflict of interest of any kind."

Dressler said Bensinger's letter to each WRA/DRB director stated in part:

"I would appreciate it greatly if you would freely express your opinion as to my guilt or non-guilt in a letter to Mr. Lloyd Leslie (vice president of the association)."

"I have asked Mr. Leslie to evaluate your letter to determine if you believe the current conflict of interest allegation is seriously impairing the prestige of the WRA/DRB."

"If you believe this to be the case, I shall submit my resignation as president and director immediately, and Mr. Leslie will convene the executive committee or board of directors to choose a new president."

Rep. Thomas invited Bensinger to file a reply to Mrs. Shukatis' criticism after she made them Tuesday.

Bensinger was not at the hearings and has been in Cape Cod this week on family business connected with the recent death of his father-in-law.

1.7 Million Benefit

House Votes Itself $7,500 Pay Raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, which said, "no, thanks," to a $10,000 pay raise in March, voted $7,500-a-year increases for members of Congress on Thursday in passing a big federal pay raise bill.

Rep. Fred B. Rooney, Congressman from this district, voted for the pay hike. Rooney voted for the $10,000 pay increase when it failed in the House in March, and pledged support of a new bill.

A 243-157 roll-call vote reversed the earlier action and sent to the Senate a bill that would boost salaries of 1.7 million federal employees by a total of $533.2 million.

Post Office Raises It would mean about $325 a year more for letter carriers and postal clerks, and about $310 a year additional for the average government secretary. But the biggest boosts would be in the upper brackets.

Not only members of Congress, but Cabinet officials and their top aides and federal judges would get $7,500-a-year increases, and the top-rated civil service employees would get 22.5 per cent raises.

It would be the first raise for Congress and the Cabinet since 1955. Last March, with an election campaign approaching, the House decided 222-184 against raising salaries by $10,000.

With the more modest $7,500 increase, the new salaries would be $32,500 a year for Cabinet officers, $30,000 for members of the House and Senate, and a range of between $26,000 and $29,000 for deputy and undersecretaries and the heads of agencies.

The vice president, speaker of the House and chief justice of the United States would get $43,000 a year and the associate Supreme Court justices, $42,500.

The House defeated all amendments that would have altered the pay scales in the bill but it adopted one that would eliminate the necessity for Congress voting on its own future pay increases.

House Group Votes $450,000 For Tocks Dam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed Tocks Island reservoir for northeastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York received $450,000 for further planning Thursday in a bill recommended to the house by the appropriations committee.

The army engineers, who described the project as the key to development of the water resources of the Delaware river basin, had requested that amount for the year starting July 1.

"We face a challenge—and a fight—which will demand the best we have to offer because it now appears necessary to take on the automobile industry if cars are to be made safer than they are now—within reasonable limits of cost."

"For years now we have been told, that the driver is responsible for 85 to 90 per cent of all accidents; that if drivers would simply be more responsible, less stupid, more tolerant, accidents would be reduced sharply."

"False Doctrine"

"We were brainwashed to the point where we were almost beginning to believe this propaganda," Murphy said.

He called it a false and dangerous doctrine, asserting that the auto industry has historically been reluctant to adopt obviously sound safety devices.

Murphy said four-wheel brakes, stop lights, safety glass, windshield wipers and turn signals all were adopted as standard equipment by the industry only after state legislatures mandated their use.

New cars are coming through with seat belts as standard equipment, he noted, but only after 17 states prohibited the sale of cars without seat belts.

"Even now," Murphy said, "the industry is in the position of saying that seat belts are important only if you sit in the front seat since the new cars are not equipped with safety belts in the back seat."

"The industry's basic position has been—and apparently still is today—"papa knows best!"

At least a dozen of the children, between 9 and 11 years old, were on hospital critical lists.

Cologne Police President Theo Hochstein identified the worker as Walter Seifert, 40 known as mentally unstable but classed as harmless by his doctors.

The assault occurred Thursday morning at the Cologne-Volkhoven Elementary School.

TB Patient

Seifert, a lathe operator, was disabled by tuberculosis four years ago. Police said in a statement Seifert gave them he claimed he was fed up with the way doctors had treated his illness and "wanted to take revenge."

Police cut him down with a bullet in the pelvis as he tried to run away from the school. But before they subdued him, he swallowed the contents of a small bottle, analyzed later as an insect killer. At the hospital, where he was rushed for a psychiatric checkup, his stomach was pumped out and he is not in danger, said police.

At Thursday's luncheon was Miss Sandra Spence, director of the "Students for Scranton," a group still behind the governor.

When Miss Spence was introduced, Eisenhower flashed his famous grin, raised his hands in what appeared to be a bit more vigorous applause than for the other guests, and bowed his head slightly in the girls' direction.

"Everybody wants to give a new interpretation to things I've said," Eisenhower replied. "Stick to November, will you?"

Eisenhower says he will not stop Goldwater. See story on Page 2.

Fraternity Appeals Zone Law

EAST STROUDSBURG — An appeal from a zoning ordinance restriction, filed by an East Stroudsburg State College fraternity, was taken under advisement last night by East Stroudsburg's Zoning Board of Adjustment.

The board indicated it would seek an equitable solution to the fraternity's claim that its house is conforming to the zoning requirements of a residential, class 2 district.

Philip Wellington, president of the Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity, told the board more than $8,000 has been invested in remodeling the house on Ransberry Ave. He said the fraternity could not hope to get its investment back if forced to sell.

The appeal has been turned down by the borough planning commission and sent to the zoning board for a final decision.

Charles Reid, zoning board chairman, said he was sympathetic to the fraternity's plight and hoped a solution could be worked out.

Purdy Wants More Troops

POCONO MANOR — The manpower shortage in Pennsylvania's State Police force is critical, Col. E. Wilson Purdy, state police commissioner said, yesterday.

Purdy said he has ordered a comprehensive survey of his department personnel and assignments.

The study is about 25 per cent complete, he added, and should be finished in time for presentation to the Legislature in November when budget hearings start.

The commissioner made it clear that he expects to have a sizeable increase in the present force of 2,285 police officers and 350 civilians.

"We're not going to ask the legislature to give us more men without letting the lawmakers know exactly how many we need, why we need them, and exactly what they will be doing when they are working," Purdy told some 500 delegates at the 58th annual meeting of the AAA-Pennsylvania Motor Federation here.

To illustrate his contention that the manpower shortage is critical, Purdy told the delegates, "We have 100 less detectives today than we had 25 years ago."

He also said it is his intention to relieve police officers from routine jobs such as eye examinations, and other administrative routines, replacing them with civilian employees.

Waste of Manpower

"It's ridiculous," said Purdy, "to take a man who has had to pass a rigid physical examination, has been given months of recruit training in police work, and then put him to work, day in and day out doing a job that can be done equally well by an older man who might need glasses to correct his vision, and on whom the state has not spent large sums of the taxpayers' money for police training."

The commissioner deplored the lack of planning in years past and said that long-range planning was a vital part of the reorganization program he instituted shortly after taking over the State Police command early in 1963.

"I was amazed to discover," he said, "that only three men at the command level had ever received training beyond the recruit level."

Car Builders Attacked Earlier the AAA delegates heard Charles J. Murphy, Traffic Engineering Safety Department director of the Automobile Club of New York, attack what he labeled, "papa knows best" attitude in the automobile industry.

"We face a challenge—and a fight—which will demand the best we have to offer because it now appears necessary to take on the automobile industry if cars are to be made safer than they are now—within reasonable limits of cost."

"For years now we have been told, that the driver is responsible for 85 to 90 per cent of all accidents; that if drivers would simply be more responsible, less stupid, more tolerant, accidents would be reduced sharply."

"We were brainwashed to the point where we were almost beginning to believe this propaganda," Murphy said.

9 Monroe Men To Form New S&L

STROUDSBURG — Nine Monroe County men have filed an application for permission to organize a federal savings and loan association in Monroe County.

Atty. Edwin Krawitz of Stroudsburg has filed the application with Federal Home Loan Bank Board of Pittsburgh. The business and professional group includes Krawitz, George W. Arnt, Stuart Pipher, Gerald Brodsky, John Detrick, George Gould, Carl Reiche, Dr. Edmund Magann, and Raymond Roberts Jr.

It was learned that the group felt that if a federal savings and loan operation is needed in Monroe County it should be conducted by a local group.

First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Wilkes-Barre has filed an application to establish a branch in Stroudsburg. Federal's board of directors is composed of Luzerne County resident.

Stroudsburg banking institutions opposed the Wilkes-Barre branch at a recent hearing before the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in Washington.

Eastburg Votes School Renovation

EAST STROUDSBURG — The Price Township School Board fought rising taxes last night at East Stroudsburg Area Joint School meeting before approving a $295,000 renovation of the old N. Courtland St. elementary school.

David Hutchinson, Price director, said after three hours of pressure from other districts, "Upon the recommendation of our Price Township president, Mr. Nauman, we will withdraw our objection."

The joint school board then authorized the joint building authority to proceed with plans to set up a bond issue to finance the school renovations and include $40,000 to pay for re-seeding the school's athletic area.

Price Taxes Up Price had complained its budget went up 18 mills this year and the school board will still have to borrow money to balance its budget at the end of the year.

Robert Mosier, Price director, said he expects Price's millage will be 80 mills next year.

Paul Nauman, president of the Price board and the joint committee, said, "If we are still in trouble next year we can let our tab go for someone else to pick up."

Before it bucked, the Price board was fighting for assurance that the six individual districts of the jointure favor advance establishment of a new district under school reorganization by July 1, 1965 under either a single or four-district county plan.

Porter Township was the only district to withhold assurance.

Higher Taxes

Martin Smith, Porter director, argued it Porter is forced into one of the four districts proposed for the county, its millage will rise from the present 20 mills to more than 40 mills.

He told the Price board, "You are putting terrific pressure on us and I don't like it."

Porter, along with East Stroudsburg, has appealed the county's four-district plan of reorganization, and wants a single-district plan.

Rights Bloc Beats Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, with its bipartisan leadership in firm control of the voting, beat down by solid margins Thursday a succession of efforts to make major changes in the civil rights bill.

The only amendments approved—with the leadership's acquiescence—were described generally as clarifying. Several were accepted by voice votes.

The rapid-fire voting was punctuated by only brief flurries of oratory—with senators rationing their words mostly in seconds and occasionally in sparing minutes. Each senator is limited to a total of one hour of talk on the bill and all amendments under the historic closure clamped down Wednesday to end the Dixie filibuster.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., who offered one amendment after another, guarded his time by saying nothing about some of them before they were voted on.

Rejected Changes

Amendments rejected as the Senate drove toward expected final action on the bill next week, included these: — 68 to 21 by Ervin to nullify the entire public accommodations title.

— 47 to 34 by Ervin to knock out the attorney general's broad authority to intervene in civil rights suits brought by individuals.

— 51 to 35 by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., to make the exemption in the public accommodations section apply to rooming houses with 10 rooms or less—instead of five rooms or less as the bill now provides.

— 56 to 25 by Ervin to eliminate authority for the attorney general to make agreements with states to certify that they are in compliance with the literacy test for voting under the act.

— 66 to 24 by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., to repeal the 1962 housing order by the late President John F. Kennedy under which homes financed with FHA insurance or VA guarantees in the future must be sold on a nondiscriminatory basis.

— 51 to 31 by Ervin to strike out a section of the bill which permits a defendant to appeal from a federal district court order sending a civil rights case back to a state court.

Property Rights

— 72 to 20 by Ervin to set up a broad range of property owner's rights which the federal government would be forbidden to abridge. These included "the right of privacy," "the right to choose his own friends," "the right to occupy and dispose of property without governmental interference in accordance with 'the right to determine the acceptability and desirability of any prospective buyer of tenant of his property.'"

— 63 to 28, by Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., to ban discrimination in employment because of age.

Philly GOP Backs Scranton

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The city's Republican policy committee urged Gov. Scranton Thursday to enter the race for the GOP presidential nomination.

Donald C. Rubel, chairman of this committee of independent and organization Republicans, signed the telegram which asked Scranton to keep the nomination open.

A foreclosing of the race, the message said, "could only result in disaster to the whole party and be harmful to the nation as well."

The telegram stated rank and file Republicans are looking to Scranton for leadership "in this chaotic moment."

Clark, Scott Back Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both Pennsylvania senators, Democrat Joseph S. Clark and Republican Hugh Scott, voted with the 79-17 majority by which the senate Thursday adopted a civil rights bill amendment.

The amendment, offered by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., bars a person from being tried twice for an act involving a federal criminal law violation and criminal contempt of court.

Bensinger Answers Charge In Letter To Rep. Morris

STROUDSBURG — This is the text of the letter from Atty. Charles R. Bensinger of Stroudsburg to Thomas G. Morris, chairman of the House Subcommittee on National Parks in Washington.

The text was released by Frank W. Dressler, executive secretary of the Water Resources Assn. of the Delaware River Basin, yesterday.

Dear Congressman Morris: I am deeply grateful to you for giving me the opportunity to answer Mrs. Nancy Shukaltis' allegation that I am in some way guilty of a "conflict of interest" because of my dual role as president of the WRA-DRB and a director of Western Heritage Properties, Ltd.

Certainly, I do not believe I am guilty of a conflict of interest of any kind.

The basic facts about my alleged conflict of interest are, briefly, as follows:

Non-Paid President

1. Since May 22, 1959, I have been the non-paid president of the WRA-DRB, a non-profit citizen's organization, and the first organization with which I have ever been associated.

The WRA-DRB has systematically and impartially tried to "let the public know" about the proposed Tocks Island National Recreation Area (TINRA) since 1959 through speeches and the publications that have been filed with the subcommittee.

2. About two years ago, I was but one of several attorneys that persuaded Western Heritage (which is a Canadian Corp.) to purchase the George Brewster estate in Pike Co., which is about 15 miles west of the proposed TINRA.

Shortly thereafter, I was elected to Western Heritage's board.

Western Heritage was so impressed with what it conceived to be the future of the Poconos that it tried to buy several other land areas in the Poconos, and in July, 1963, did buy the Hidden Lake Property, which is within the boundaries of the proposed TINRA.

Given just these two basic facts, I might agree that I am guilty of a moral conflict of interest, however, I do not believe I am when these other facts and circumstances are taken into account.

1. As president of the WRA-DRB, I certainly have not been privy to any "inside information."

The only map the National Park Service has ever published of the proposed TINRA has been republished in at least 100,000 publications of the WRA-DRB over the past five years.

2. It has always been my impression and the impression of many other attorneys and government officials, that the boundaries of the proposed TINRA were tentative and subject to change once TINRA had been authorized and the area surveyed.

Passage Not Certain

3. There has been, and still is, no assurance that the Congress will authorize the creation of TINRA.

The Pocono area is one of substantial seasonal unemployment, and many of its local governmental units suffer serious tax problems since so much of their land is held by religious and other non-profit organizations.

The most hopeful new business in the Poconos is the establishment of "second homes" communities adjacent to the lakes. Such communities, and Hidden Lake may be one, increase local taxes and create substantial new employment the year round.

4. The real dilemma that Hidden Lake presented to the Poconos area was one that probably faces any resort area. Since neither Pike nor Monroe Counties, until the beginning of this year, had county-wide planning, (and virtually no local zoning) the area was ripe for development by less fully responsible developers.

Proper Developer

When Hidden Lake came on the market in 1963, this dilemma became immediate and urgent.

Since Western Heritage is a highly responsible developer, I was delighted that it purchased the property.

Since I have been a strong proponent of the proposed TINRA for the past five years (and thus would in no way want to damage the prestige of the WRA-DRB, I am sending a copy of this letter and Mrs. Shukaltis' allegations to the board of directors of the WRA-DRB and Western Heritage Ltd. for their information and consideration.

Personal Problems

I deeply regret that I could not attend the hearing (that the subcommittee held on the TINRA bills on June 8 and 9). I have been hospitalized over a week in the past month, and thus it has been mandatory that I devote my limited working time to my law practice and to certain personal problems involving my family.

Again, I deeply appreciate the fact that you and the subcommittee have withheld judgement of Mrs. Shukaltis' allegations until I have had a chance to answer the allegations.

I have dictated this letter to my secretary from Cape Cod (I am here on family business) and thus she is signing the letter for me. If this is unacceptable for the record, please let me know and I shall send you a personally signed copy as soon as I return from Cape Cod.

Respectfully, Charles R. Bensinger.

Ike Will Not Stop Goldwater

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH and WALTER R. MEARS GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower insists he is not out to stop front-running Sen. Barry Goldwater — or boost anyone else — in the race for the Republican presidential nomination.

But, without going into detail, he doesn't hide reservations about some aspects of Goldwater's conservative philosophy.

The 73-year-old former president says, however, he is plain disgusted by reports picturing him as a puppeteer, yanking strings in an effort to ditch the fast-moving Goldwater bandwagon. He is equally angry about reports that he sought to launch a boom for Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, and then scuttled Scranton's chances.

Eisenhower told The Associated Press his overriding interest is in an open GOP convention at San Francisco next month, and in a platform and ticket that would build the party to its maximum strength.

He says the party will need all the power it can muster for what he sizes up as an uphill battle to defeat President Johnson in November.

Not Stop Goldwater

Eisenhower wants to be in a position, as he puts it, to pick up the pieces after the convention, and help unite the party behind its nominee — whoever he is.

In all this, he says, his views have been consistent since he first expressed them 18 months ago.

Adults Must Join Minors At Bars

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pennsylvania's superior court ruled Thursday that minors cannot go into an establishment that serves alcoholic beverages if the only supervision is provided by the operators of the place.

The court, splitting 5-2, said that the state law properly provides that minors must be accompanied by parents, guardians or be under other proper supervision and that means an adult who comes in with the minor.

Even a policeman hired to supervise wouldn't meet the requirement of the liquor control act, said Judge Harry Montgomery. The opinion said:

"The provision requiring supervision would be meaningless, since any licensee who operated a well-supervised establishment would permit minors to frequent it as long as they were not served intoxicating beverages."

The case involved Louis and Pauline Spazana who own the Lorchin hotel in Ephrata. Their license was suspended for 20 days for allowing unaccompanied minors to eat in a dining room where alcoholic beverages were served to adults.

The Cambria County common pleas court set aside the suspension on the ground that Mrs. Spazana and a waitress saw that the minors received no alcoholic beverages. This action was reversed by the superior court.

Project 70 Passage Monday Assured

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Project 70 land conservation program was given another boost toward final passage Thursday as the House and Senate worked to clean up the remaining bills in the last days of the 1964 session.

The $70 million proposal was given the first of three required readings in the House with another reading scheduled Friday and the final vote on Monday.

Republican and Democratic leaders indicated there would be more than sufficient votes to pass the bill, despite reports of widespread dissatisfaction on both sides of the aisle.

Both houses met only briefly before adjourning until Friday. There were, however, several important developments.

Occupation Exemptions

A Senate committee gave first approval and sent to the floor a proposed constitutional amendment.

State Okays 8 Vocational School Areas

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — The state board of education approved plans Thursday for the creation of eight vocational training schools in Pennsylvania.

The board, sitting as the state Board of Vocational Education, took the action as it concluded a two-day meeting at Pennsylvania State University.

The board recommended that $19,000 be spent this year on a study of vocational education needs across the state. The proposal is subject to the approval of the budget office.

The board approved schools for these areas: Clearfield County, the northern area of Allegheny, Columbia and Montour, eastern Westmoreland, Snyder, Union and Northumberland, Lehigh, Dauphin and Crawford.

The schools will have a minimum of 500 pupils and 10 vocational or technical courses, according to standards set up by the board.

The courses are to be in such fields as agriculture, business and distribution, home economics, trade and industrial education.

In other business, the board approved graduate programs at four state colleges: Bloomsburg in social studies; Millersville in mathematics; Slippery Rock in elementary education; and California in engineering.

ment that would allow exemptions up to the first $1,000 of income under local occupational privilege taxes.

The House-approved amendment resulted from a supreme court decision which held a $1,000 exemption enacted by the city of Johnstown to be unconstitutional. The amendment will be in position for a Senate vote on Monday, but it still would require approval of the 1965 legislature and the voters in a referendum.

JP Training

The Senate committee also sent to the floor a constitutional amendment that would require

Justices of the peace, aldermen and magistrates to undergo three-month training periods.

The governor's commission on constitutional revision suffered another setback, however, as the House dropped from its calendar, for lack of votes, an amendment that would have permitted counties to adopt optional forms of government, raised local borrowing limits and paved the way for the abolition of various county offices, if the voters so desire.

Still another survey of constitutional problems was approved by the Senate on the motion of Sen. Clarence D. Bell, R-Delaware.

Constitution Study

He recommended that the joint state government commission study the constitution with a view toward possible changes.

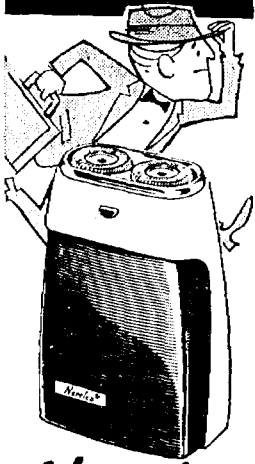

"We want the commission to give particular attention to all of the proposed amendments and revisions suggested by various groups, organizations and committees over the years," he said. Bell's proposal will require House action.

The House refused to accept Senate amendments to a $500,000 appropriation for research into coal region problems of unsightly culm banks and stream pollution through acid mine drainage.

The Senate wrote in a provision that the University of Pittsburgh would share in the research projects. The state mines department reportedly is opposed to that provision. The measure probably will go to a conference committee to overcome the differences.

County Gets Mental Health Plan Report

STROUDSBURG — The state-wide Comprehensive Mental Health Program was explained to the Monroe County Commissioners yesterday, and it was announced that Commissioner Stuart Pipher has been named to one of the state regional committees.

David Miller of the state's Welfare Dept. described the set-up of the mental health plan, and said that Pipher was recently named to the sixth regional committee, including Berks, Lehigh, Northampton, Monroe, Carbon and Schuylkill Counties. James Gould, president of the Monroe County Mental Health Assn., is the other member of the regional committee from Monroe County. There are eight regional committees in the state, each with about 17 members, Miller said.

In describing the history and purposes of the program, Miller said:

Eisenhower Move
"In 1956 President Eisenhower appointed a mental health commission, asking it to draw up an ideal plan for the states. This action was the basis of a 1960 report to President Kennedy, who then asked Congress for $50,000 for each state to initiate the program."

"Gov. Scranton then set up his Mental Health Advisory Group. This group came up with the report that is given to you today. (The report is for the member of the regional committee and outlines plans for action.)

"There are 42 so-called task forces now working throughout the state. From the reports of the 42 groups, a survey instrument (a questionnaire) will be drawn up."

"The regional committee's will be given a survey instrument, which will be a survey of mental health in all its aspects, including alcoholism, depressed people, and all types of emotional instability."

"Information from these questionnaires will be given to the Governor's Advisory Committee, which will then make overall recommendations for action."

"The first meeting of the regional six committee will be Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Allentown."

"About $22 million has been planned for the start of this program. It will be split up about January of 1966. This money will implement regional plans."

"As the program grows, more money will be made available," Miller said.

In other business, the commissioners authorized construction of an exit ramp for the newly excavated Pleasant Valley Manor basement. It will cost the county $3,455, according to architect M. R. Kiefer.

Driver Improvement
Jack Dempsey and Gordon Jones of the state Highway Dept. met with the board and asked it to consider setting up a Driver Improvement School.

Dempsey explained the school, saying:

"The school could be set up under the supervision of the county's president judge, and the superintendent of schools."

"The school aims to put a new driving attitude into the minds of offenders."

"If a fellow breaks the law, his case goes to Harrisburg. He'll then get a letter with the location of the driver improvement school. If he doesn't enroll, and his case warrants suspension, he is suspended."

"If he enrolls in the school, however, his suspension is put off for 30 days until he finishes the course. If he passes the bookwork and physical examination, the suspension will not be levied."

"If, however, he fails the course, the suspension will be put into effect."

Misdemeanors, such as failing to stop at the scene of an accident, drunken driving, and other types, are not allowed.

Dempsey said that instructors must be certified by the superintendent of schools. He said that once the course was started, and a person availed himself of it, he could not take it again.

Jones said that about 26 of Pennsylvania's 67 counties have either started the course or are about to start. The board took the matter under advisement.

The commissioners approved bills for general contract work in the courthouse basement.

Chairman Rader said lawn furniture for the county home is needed.

County Detective Sought
James Marsh, District Attorney, asked the board to approve $4,500 per year salary for a county detective, plus reimbursement for mileage and meals.

Marsh said that his duties would be set by the district attorney, and that he would have about as much police power as a constable.

He added that part of his duties would be to keep an eye on the Justices of the Peace and on the Justices of the Peace and the salary board will convene Monday to decide on the request.

Tax appeals from Camp Akiba, Willie Schmitt, and Design Technics, were all denied.

Howard Buzzard and Ray Mackes of Hamilton Twp. supervisors asked the board how much money the township could expect from liquid fuels appropriations this year and were given a figure of $5,775.

Jointure Schools' Education Costlier Than Rest Of State

STROUDSBURG — Statistics included in Monroe County's application for a four-district school reorganization plan revealed the county's three joint districts are paying more to educate students than schools throughout the state.

The application, submitted to the Council of Basic Education in Harrisburg last Friday, showed education is most expensive at Pocono Mountain, where it costs $675 to educate a student during the 1961-62 school year.

That same year the state average was $471.

Pleasant Valley was next on the list with an overall per pupil education cost of $586, followed by East Stroudsburg with $551.

Stroud Union, the only county district with a uniform tax base, was $21 below the state average during 1961-62 with a per pupil cost of $450.

Pocono Mountain was also well above the state average of $390 based on instruction cost per pupil. Pocono Mountain's instructional cost per student during 1961-62 was $447.

The other school districts showed the following instructional costs:

Pleasant Valley, $377; East Stroudsburg, $365; and Stroud Union, $343, all under the state average.

The figures show if the county was a single school district during 1961-62 the instructional cost per pupil would have been $376—$26 under the state average.

Also the total per pupil expense in a single district would have amounted to $344—or $73 above the state average but less than the three joint districts.

Community Spirit Seen Key To Attracting New Firms

STROUDSBURG — The spirit of a community, its pride, friendliness and hospitality are essential to attracting new industries and tourists.

Fred Paul Fuller, Jr., associate director of the 100,000 Pennsylvanians for the Promotion of Economic Growth, gave that message to the Stroudsburg Rotary Club and all residents of the Pocono Mountains yesterday.

Jesse Pierson, manager of the Sears Roebuck Co. store in Stroudsburg, introduced the speaker and explained Sears' participation in a current special "Pennsylvania Progress Days" promotion.

Rotary Scholars
Four Rotary Scholarship students now at ESSC were introduced by John Little, county superintendent of schools. They are Bonnie Fritz, who will be a senior next fall; Marilyn Bonser, who will be a junior; Diane Albert, who will be a sophomore; and Elaine Kynner, who will be a freshman.

Private Effort
Fuller said all funds of the Committee of 100,000 were raised from 200 leading companies and individuals in Pennsylvania who gave almost $500,000 this year.

He said a large Pennsylvania vacation promotion advertisement section in the Saturday Evening Post May 16 had brought "a tremendous response." He said 18,000 Pennsylvania residents had sent in replies.

Fuller said the promotion helped to dispel what he called a widely-held opinion that Pennsylvania is "a dirty place" with only iron, coal, trains and industry.

He described the committee's "action sales force" of 70 top businessmen in the state who are calling upon major American businesses likely to be looking for new plant sites.

An ambassador program enlisting 50,000 Pennsylvanians citizens is also under way. They will be urged to take their vacations in Pennsylvania, urge relatives in other states to come to Pennsylvania and encourage companies in which they hold stock to build new plants in Pennsylvania.

When the shootings occurred her husband, Mitchell, 42, and his son by a previous marriage, Billy, 15, were not in the house at Ohioville on the outskirts of Midland.

Zlatovich was admitted to a hospital in a serious state of shock.

The life of another son, 8-month-old John, was spared because she ran out of bullets for a .32 caliber pistol, police quoted her as saying.

Killed were Robert, 2, and Gary, 3, the couple's own children, and Gene, 5, and Virginia, 4, Mrs. Zlatovich's children by a previous marriage.

All four were shot in the heart, police said.

Dist. Atty. Robert Masters said Mrs. Zlatovich related in a statement that she had planned to take the children and run away in the family truck, but that some wires had been yanked out. It was not known how this happened, he said.

Police gave the following account of circumstances leading up to the slayings:

Billy called Midland police about 1 a.m. saying his father was en route there to kill Mrs. Zlatovich with a shotgun.

Two patrolmen found her drinking in a bar and spotted her husband across the street. A search was made of Zlatovich and his car but no weapon was found.

Zlatovich and his wife got into an argument after officers took him into the bar. They were then taken to the police station and the dispute apparently was resolved. The Zlatovichs went home separately later.

When Mrs. Zlatovich returned home her husband was in a nearby woods where he apparently often went alone.

Later, Billy called his uncle, Bernard Zlatovich, who is chief of police of Ohioville, and said there might be trouble.

Mom Kills 4 Sleeping Children

MIDLAND, Pa. (AP)—A 24-year-old mother, who had been drinking and quarreling with her husband, shot to death four of her children early Wednesday as they slept, police reported.

Mrs. Mary Zlatovich was lodged in Beaver County Jail at Beaver. Authorities said she would be charged with murder later this week.

When the shootings occurred her husband, Mitchell, 42, and his son by a previous marriage, Billy, 15, were not in the house at Ohioville on the outskirts of Midland.

Zlatovich was admitted to a hospital in a serious state of shock.

Civil Rights Hero

The most unlikely U.S. Senator has established himself as the hero of the 75-day civil rights filibuster.

He is Senator Everett McKinley Dirksen, Republican of Illinois.

As leader of the Republican minority in the Senate, Dirksen submitted and fought for good amendments to the House-passed civil rights bill and then produced 27 Republican votes for the crucial debate-ending vote Wednesday.

That was a far better showing than Senate Democrats made in the 71 to 29 cloture vote. Only six of 33 Republicans voted against ending the civil rights debate, among them Senator Barry Goldwater.

But there were 23 Democrats, mostly Southerners who staged the filibuster voting against cloture while 41 Democrats voted with their party and their President Lyndon B. Johnson who supported the civil rights bill to the hilt.

Senator Dirksen has had his ups and downs on the political stage in Washington. He is sometimes called "The Wizard of Ooze" for his tendency to change positions and compromise.

He became the butt of considerable criticism and laughter when he and Charles Halleck, Republican minority leader of the House of Representatives, started their "Ev and Charlie Show" on television in a feeble effort to get publicity for the Republican point of view amidst the flood of Democratic administration headlines.

But Senator Dirksen proved himself during the civil rights filibuster one of the great statesmen of American legislative history.

His political, parliamentary and diplomatic skills have in fact saved the civil rights bill from certain defeat in the Senate if the Republicans had not supported it overwhelmingly.

When Dirksen spoke for the motion to close debate on the civil rights bill, he quoted the Declaration of Independence, "We hold these truths to be self evident that all men are created equal."

And he added, in what amounts to a sharp rebuke to Senator Goldwater, "That has been the living faith of our party. Do we forsake this article of faith, now that equality's time has come, or do we stand up for it and ensure survival of our party and its ultimate victory?"

Senate Republicans have now done what the Republican governors did in Cleveland earlier this week—they have proved that Senator Barry Goldwater, apparent winner of the GOP Presidential nomination, is not "in the mainstream" of Republican thinking today.

They have been wise to repudiate Goldwater's disgraceful opposition to the civil rights bill and to lay the ground for inclusion of this historic legislation in the Republican platform which Goldwater will somehow have to dance upon during the Presidential campaign.

Comment Of The Day

"Looking to the future of the party, it would be a tragedy if Senator Goldwater's views, as previously stated, were not challenged and repudiated."

—Richard Nixon, former Republican vice president.

"I don't see him as an opponent. I think he has talked his way out of the running. He is sounding more like Harold Stassen every day."

—Barry Goldwater, Republican senator who appears to have won the Republican nomination for President.

Walter Lippmann

President's Successor

By Walter Lippmann

In its leisurely and happy-go-lucky way, Congress has now got to the point where a subcommittee of the Senate agreed on a bill dealing with the Presidential succession and with Presidential disability.

This bill (S. J. Res. 139) is supported by senators from both parties, Dirksen, Keating and Fong for the Republicans, Birch Bayh, Dodd and Eastland for the Democrats.

Now, if the Judiciary committee agrees with its subcommittee, the bill can go to the Senate. If it is passed there, then some day, perhaps next year, a similar bill will go to the House.

Then, if it has been approved by a two-thirds vote in each house, it must be ratified by three-quarters of the states.

Thus, we must accept the fact that a constitutional amendment to provide for a Vice President if there is no Vice President cannot go into effect during the present period when there is no Vice President.

This vacuum will last until January, 1965. Moreover, during this same period there will be no orderly way to deal with the situation which would exist if, God forbid, this President were disabled.

Because such delay is a grave national risk and a reckless gamble, I have been among those who have argued that the problems of succession and disability should be dealt with at once, not by the long process of a constitutional amendment, but by repealing the unhappy legislation of 1917 and by a declaration interpreting what the Constitution says about Presidential "inability."

The consensus of Congress and of the legal profession has been, however, that a constitutional amendment is necessary.

It is evident that Congress is unwilling to legislate and that it is determined to take the longer road of a constitutional amendment.

So be it. The amendment proposed (S. J. Res. 139) by Sen. Birch Bayh's subcommittee has one compelling thing to be said for it. It has been agreed to by leading members of both parties.

And, therefore, even if it were not so good as it is, it would still be a great deal better than an endless search for an ever more perfect solution. The absolutely perfect solution which deals with every conceivable contingency will never be found, and it is not necessary.

What is necessary is that there should be a legitimate procedure which the whole country respects.

In fact, however, this proposed amendment is, so far as I can see, very good indeed. On the first problem, which is what to happen when there is no Vice President, as there was when Truman succeeded Roosevelt and as there has been since Johnson succeeded Kennedy, S. J. Res. 139 would have the President nominate a Vice President subject to the approval of both houses of Congress.

Probably this would work, because the country would not look sympathetically on a partisan or factional effort to thwart the new President in a matter of this kind.

Above all, the proposal cures the vices of the existing system set up by the 1947 law. Under it, the Presidential office would go to the speaker of the House when the Vice Presidency is vacant.

His would, of course, be of the opposition party. This would mean that the death of a President might be equivalent to the reversal of the previous election.

The other vice of the existing law is that the man whose career has led him to the speakership is not likely to have passed through any kind of experience and training which qualifies him for high executive office.

As against this, the Bayh Amendment rests on a basic idea of the old pre-1947 law, which was that the successor of the President should be a man who has had full confidence.

The other problem, which arises when a President is disabled, has always in practice turned on this question: If the Vice President takes over, does he become President, and if he does, how can he be made to surrender his office if the elected President recovers? The Bayh proposal provides a reasonable answer.

If the President falls ill, but remains in control of his faculties, he may declare in writing that he is unable to discharge the powers and duties of the office; the Vice President then becomes the acting President until the elected President declares in writing that his inability has ended.

If, however, the President is too ill to do anything, as was the case, for example, when Garfield was dying, the Vice President with the concurrence of a majority of the Cabinet, or of any body specified by Congress, could declare that the President is disabled and assume the position of acting President.

There is here a somewhat tricky point. For it could happen that the President, though in fact incapacitated, would dispute the actions of the Vice President and of the Cabinet. In that event, which could have happened when Wilson lay paralyzed in the White House, the dispute would go to Congress which would have to decide by two-thirds majority of both houses whether the Vice President should continue as acting President.

There is an additional safeguard against a coup d'etat in the fact that if any member of the Cabinet disagreed with the majority, he could make his position known to the Congress, and under those circumstances it is unlikely that there would be a two-thirds vote.

This is about as good a way of dealing with what would be the most messy and muddled situation imaginable, which would be that of a President in apparent good health who was in fact deranged.

The ultimate solution for this ultimate problem is in fact a form of impeachment, and that in fact is what is proposed.

The Pennsylvania Story

By Mason Denison
HARRISBURG — Reporter's Notebook:

"So What Else Is New?" — Commented one somewhat ruffled Republican legislative leader on Capitol Hill this week, an ardent Scranton-for-President supporter:

"After that on-again-off-again scramble between former President Eisenhower and Governor Scranton over whether the Governor should become an avowed candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, I'm convinced that one head is better than two."

Political Payroll Accuracy — As new corporation charters are approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, a list of the new corporations is typed giving the name of the corporation, address, purpose, names of incorporators, capitalization, etc. A carbon copy of these lists is duly forwarded to Capitol Hill newspapers.

Here's the name of one of Pennsylvania's newly chartered corporations — according to the Secretary of the Commonwealth's Office, that is:

"Maple Ridge Shoooping Laza, Inc."

(Well, there's something new all the time!)

Vodka Bottles To Russia, Etc. — Somewhat surprising to many will be the fact that

Pennsylvania industries are exporting nearly a billion dollars worth of products a year to foreign countries.

According to the Department of Internal Affairs this week, the calendar year 1962 saw products valued at $933,000,000 exported by 2,344 Pennsylvania manufacturing establishments to 157 countries through 191 ports of the United States. Neighboring Canada received goods from more Pennsylvania manufacturing exporters (1,496) than any other country. The ten countries with the largest value of exports (in order) were: Philadelphia, Allegheny, Delaware, Erie, Montgomery, Bucks, Beaver, Mercer, Westmoreland and York.

Where did the stuff go? . . . The eight leading recipients (with number of Pennsylvania industrial firms involved noted in parenthesis) are as follows: Puerto Rico (564); England (482); Venezuela (375); Germany (370); France (351); Australia (345); and Japan, (322).

"The Ball, Mac, The Ball!" — This week they raised two glistening aluminum 77-foot flagpoles in front of the new $8,000,000 State Museum, now receiving its finishing touches and expected to be opened this fall.

With a huge crane they raised the first flagpole (for the American Flag) in its concrete base without difficulty or incident. . . Workmen moved to the second flagpole area and with the pole wrapped in cloth to protect it from crane chain scratches, hoisted it in the air preparatory to lowering it in its concrete base.

Suddenly a workman pointed to the top of the flagpole and yelled at the top of his lung to the startled crane operator: "The ball, Mac — the ball!" The crane operator leaned out of his cab, looked skyward — and gaped. . . Sure enough — the ten-inch gold ball supposed to be at the top of the flagpole (this pole to fly the State Flag) was missing! . . . Down came the 77-foot pole, the gold ball duly located and planted in its proper place — and up again went the pole.

"Well, that's one for the birds," commented the crane operator in an obviously unintended pun!

Upcoming Date — In case you're not satisfied with the expense account filed by some particular candidate in the Spring Primary, it might be well to bear in mind that next Wednesday, June 17 is the last day to petition the court for an audit of an expense account! . . . For poultry fanciers: the Lebanon Valley Broiler Festival, at Fireman's Park, Fredericksburg (Lebanon County) tomorrow. . . On there's the First Annual Water Show at Delaware Water Gap on Sunday!

Two Voids Created

Two gentlemen from different walks of life will leave for "foreign" territories, employment and duty. The Poconos, with its expanding world-financially, physically and population can ill afford to lose such personalities. But that is life and, as such, the mountains must suffer.

"The Majo" took care of things on the lower level. Nothing was too small or too insignificant for Baker to bypass.

Both men were friends to the masses, Crandall in a way his elevated position in the world pointed out, and Baker as his chosen profession dictated.

This corner is sorry to see men the caliber of Crandall and Baker pick stakes. Their shoes are hard to fill. During this time of growth in the Poconos we need all the brainy and conscientious help we can get.

Crandall, Mr. Everything at the top-drawer resort atop the Poconos, will head for the Bahamas and a new position with a first-class hotelery run by the Jack Tar Hotel Corp. of Galveston, Texas. Major Baker, the Citadel major domo, has accepted duty in Ohio.

Just Out! — The first day at a new Buffalo restaurant, the diner ordered rye bread with his meal. The waitress served white.

Next day he again ordered rye bread. Again she served white. This went on for a week. The diner finally decided the only way he would get what he wanted was to order the opposite. So he ordered his meal and added: "Bring me some white bread."

"But," said the waitress, "don't you always have rye?"

The Allen-Scott Report

RFK Helps Judy

WASHINGTON — If you are a world-known actress in distress in a foreign land, it's mighty helpful to have Attorney General Robert Kennedy take a keen personal interest in your welfare.

As head of the Justice Department, he is in a powerful position to solve problems with a dispatch and thoroughness that a veteran diplomat can't equal.

That was the great good fortune of movie star and songstress Judy Garland, who recently made global headlines with a stormy performance in Australia followed shortly thereafter by a "critical illness" in Hong Kong.

In a number of cables between the British crown colony and the Justice Department, through the accommodating auspices and facilities of the State Department, the young attorney general manifested much concern over Miss Garland's widely-publicized plight.

Through his direct intervention, the way was cleared for the immediate arrival of her doctor and manager.

U.S. Consul General Edward Rice kept Kennedy fully informed of Miss Garland's condition. In one cable he reported he had personally delivered to the hospitalized actress the attorney general's warm message of concern.

Even Rice's cables to Secretary of State Rusk regarding Miss Garland were marked "Pass to Attorney General."

Aides of Kennedy say he was introduced to the singer by his brother-in-law and sister, Peter and Patricia Lawford. Lawford is a movie actor and they reside in Hollywood. Through them Kennedy and his wife have become acquainted with numerous stage and screen performers.

This little-known aspect of the Attorney General's life will be highlighted in a book to be published next month. One chapter will deal with the late Marilyn Monroe.

Kennedy's efforts in behalf of Miss Garland are not the first time he has used his official influence to help a theatrical personality.

The attorney general went to bat for British actor Richard Burton when his entry into the U.S. was challenged on the ground of his premarital relations with his current wife, Elizabeth Taylor.

Representative Michael Feighan, D-O., chairman of the House Judiciary subcommittee on immigration, demanded Burton be barred. The Immigration Service was prepared to do that, but was overruled by Kennedy, who held the Briton was admissible because the State Department had approved the visa.

Costly Senate Seat — Pierre Salinger, who emerged the winner in a four-way race for the California Democratic senatorial nomination, is telling friends his election campaign will cost more than $1 million.

The portly former White House press secretary also is saying he is more worried about the deep split in the Democratic party than his Republican opponent.

According to Salinger, he doesn't expect too much trouble picking George A. Murphy, the GOP nominee, if Governor "Pat" Brown and other powerful Democrats who opposed Salinger will throw their full weight behind him. He clearly has strong misgivings about that.

"If they don't give me all-out backing," Salinger told the Senate Democratic Campaign committee, "I'll be in real trouble."

One of his biggest problems in getting this much-needed inner party support is coming to a workable understanding with Governor Brown on federal patronage — which has been largely in his hands since President Johnson took office. Brown's ties with the White House are close and strong.

Several weeks before the senatorial primary, the President personally designated Brown as "state coordinator" for the fall election.

This backstage move was a direct brush-off of Assembly Speaker Jesse ("Big Boss") Unruh, who played a key role in engineering Salinger's last-minute senatorial candidacy and his grandiose ambitions to be top ruler of California Democrats. Unruh has close ties to Attorney General Robert Kennedy. They had a lengthy conference during Kennedy's visit in Los Angeles this week to deliver a speech.

In an effort to come to terms with Brown, Salinger made an unannounced trip to Cleveland, where Brown was attending the annual Governor's Conference.

Desultory — Chariot races, gladiatorial contests and various games to entertain the public were held in the Roman Circus.

Highly trained riders performed on two to four horses, leaping from one horse's back to another as the horses ran around a track in the middle of the arena.

These horse-back acrobats were called "desultors"—leapers. The word was derived from "desultum," the past participle of the Latin verb "desilire," to leap down.

Thus the word "desultory," meaning like a desultor, was chosen to describe a conversation that rambled aimlessly from one subject to another.

Dear Abby

The Tramp And The Lady

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: With reference to the letter about why a man, who has a lady for a wife, will pick up a tramp and treat her like a lady, and then will turn around and treat his wife like a tramp:

Some time ago you stated in the confidential section of your column: "The worse a man's morals are, the better he wants his wife's to be." How do you reconcile the two answers?

MRS. A.

DEAR MRS. A.: A man whose morals are low wants his wife's morals to be high, but he prefers a tramp for a sweetheart because he has a feeling of worthlessness and inferiority with his wife—but not with the tramp. And because a man treats his wife like a tramp does not mean he wants her to behave like one. Married men who cheat with tramps have no desire to marry one. Compend?

DEAR ABBY: I am so unhappy I hardly know where to start. I am a middle-aged woman employed as a cook, housekeeper, companion and chauffeur to the most selfish, heartless woman I have ever known. She expects me to eat leftovers that should go into the garbage can. She finds fault with everything I do. When she is going out I have to help her dress, which is a chore, because she tries on a dozen dresses before deciding what to wear, and I have to tell her how "beautiful" she looks in every one or she gets mad. On my day off she lays in bed watching TV all day, and I have to prepare all her meals and put them within her reach. She is not an invalid. She plays golf. When she goes out I have to stay up and dressed to let her in, lock up the house and undress her and put her clothes away. She is a mil-

Speaking Of Your Health:

Readers Are Asking...

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Why are food and water forbidden before an operation?

This strict order by the physician is of great importance to the surgeon and to the anesthesiologist. An "empty stomach" makes the anesthesia even safer and prevents the possibility of food entering the lung passages.

When emergencies occur and surgery is imperative even if the patient has just eaten, there are now many safety devices that are scrupulously devoted to this particular surgical problem.

Climatic Adjustment

Why is it often so difficult to adjust to new climates during a short visit?

Changes in altitude, humidity and barometric pressure definitely affect the normal functions of the body.

The heart, the lungs and the blood circulation must undergo a period of adjustment to unusually high altitudes.

Overexertion in a new climate should be avoided for a short period of time to allow the body to "acclimate" itself and stabilize its functions.

Ordinary Cold?

Are antibiotics necessary for ordinary simple colds?

The diagnosis of an "ordinary, simple cold" and the treatment of it depend entirely on the judgment of the physician.

Too many people neglect a severe infection under the misguided belief that it is "only a cold." On the other hand, many will panic at the first sniffle and unwisely begin taking self-prescribed doses of antibiotics left over in the medicine cabinet from past infections.

The decision of whether or not to use an antibiotic can only be safely and accurately made by a doctor, who bases his conclusions on expert knowledge, judgment and past experience.

Not Always A Sign

Is blood in the stool of an adult always a sign of cancer?

Emphatically no. The most frequent cause of fresh, red blood in the stool is hemorrhoids (piles). A tiny crack or fissure around the rectum may break a small blood vessel, when straining is excessive during a bowel movement.

Although most blood in the stool is not serious, it is imperative that the cause of all bleeding be determined immediately.

Reflex Mechanism

Should sneezes be suppressed?

No. Sneezing is nature's reflex mechanism for ridding the nose of an irritating or offending substance. The nose should be covered, of course, to avoid spreading germs. Never squeeze the nostrils during a sneeze, for this may injure the ear drum.

Barrett Approves Aid To Airport

CANADENSIS — Barrett Twp. Supervisors last night approved payments for the Mt. Pocono Airport Authority of one-quarter of the annual assessment based on current figures for the next 10 years.

Support of the airport by Barrett began in 1951 with a one-half mill tax on the '51 assessment. This came to $1,100.

The new action will mean nearly $2,000 will be given to the airport this year with the figure to fluctuate according to property assessment each year until December, 1973.

This is part of a concerted action to support the airport on the part of Mt. Pocono Borough and Paradise, Pocono, Coolbaugh and Tobyhanna townships in addition to Barrett.

Bills totaling $1,146.12 were approved for payment. This sum includes work on the new road, a three-fifth-mile section of Lake Rd. which will be paved Monday and Tuesday.

Stanley Bender, roadmaster, was complimented by Carl Brown of Canadensis for his work with John Krummel on the road.

In other business, the board: —Announced that Vogt, Rd. will be taken over as soon as the petition is signed by property owners adjacent to the road.

1,110 See 131 Graduate At Pen Argyl

PEN ARGYL — More than 1,100 persons last night watched the 131-member graduating class of Pen Argyl Area High School receive diplomas at ceremonies in the high school gymnasium.

Four honor students delivered short talks before the Rev. Irme Kovacs delivered the main address.

Trucilla Sabatino told the graduating class and the audience that graduation was the end of one life and the starting of a new one. She asked the adults to continue to give the youth cooperation so they could insist on being themselves and not an imitation.

Gale Parsons said that the graduates must decide on goals in life and then work for them and forget what people think.

Franklin Ewald said, "God will not have His work made manifest by cowardice." He reminded the graduates to overcome fear and overconfidence.

Diane Jones expressed thanks for the class to those who are responsible for them to reach this point. She thanked the fathers for their work in getting the new school, and the teachers for their work in preparing the graduates for a new life.

"The Challenge . . ." Kovacs chose as his subject, "The challenge of being an American."

He stressed the point of having a plus factor and urged the graduates to exert their plus factor in every avenue of adventure, and not to forget to remember that they are Americans.

"I urge you to show this plus factor for the freedoms in America. Repeat them at least once a day so that someone will hear them," he said.

MAKES DEBUT — Mrs. Dorothy K. Moore of Haverford will make her professional acting debut this Monday night in "The Merry Widow" at the Cherry Lane Playhouse, near Tannersville.

Cherry Lane Actress

Mother To Launch New Career In Area

By Gil Murray
Daily Record Reporter

STROUDSBURG — Why would a happily married woman, with three lovely children and a successful husband spend the long hot summer trying to break into show business?

Silly? Of course not, said Mrs. Dorothy K. Moore of suburban Philadelphia, who is launching her professional acting career this summer as a member of the stock company at Cherry Lane Playhouse, near Tannersville.

Mrs. Moore, whose husband, James is a Philadelphia tax attorney and also president of the Camelback Ski Corp., is an accomplished amateur dramatic actress but this is her first crack at professional work.

To make the jump more difficult Mrs. Moore will be taking part in the musicals to be presented at Cherry Lane.

In Little Theatre — "I have been acting all my life," said the red-headed, blue eyed mother, "but until now I couldn't do it professionally because I had a family to raise."

Mrs. Moore said she has kept busy through the years acting with little theatre groups in the Philadelphia area.

Will she make it in the rough, tough world of professional acting?

If determination has anything to do with success, players at Cherry Lane may be seeing a potential Broadway star in Mrs. Moore.

She has foreseen the sanctity of her Haverford home, tak-

Driebe Accepts Info Booth's Keys

PHILIPSBURG, N.J. — The Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission officially opened its information booth in Phillipsburg, N.J. yesterday.

The Commission's chairman, Edward K. Driebe of Stroudsburg, presided at the affair, when Spencer Cramer, representing the R. C. Cramer Lumber Co., of Stroudsburg, Portland, Bangor, and Wind Gap presented the key to the new building to Driebe.

The new information booth is located on the South side of the New Jersey approach to the Commission's Easton-Phillipsburg Toll Bridge — a few feet East of the Operations-Maintenance Building.

It will accommodate travelers and patrons of the toll bridge who are enroute to the 1964 New York World's Fair, and in addition, it will provide services for the traveling public by way of distributing factually information on the identity and location of hotels, motels, restaurants, and business organizations, as well as literature germane to the World's Fair trip.

The Commission's staff is coordinating the collection and distribution of printed material with the Phillipsburg Area Chamber of Commerce; its president, Clarence Baker, and its Secretary, Mrs. Alma Jan- ci.

The booth will be manned, at the beginning, at least, by Commission personnel; however, efforts are being exerted to gather a staff of volunteers through the Phillipsburg Area Chamber of Commerce, to assist the Commission in providing the information booth services to the traveling public.

Driebe introduced former Commission Chairman, Herman A. Shotwell, of Blairtown Township, (N.J.) Warren County, who is now a Freeholder of

Warren County, Driebe said:

"Our Immediate Past Chairman, Herman A. Shotwell, sponsored the resolution which authorized the provision of this booth on our property here in Phillipsburg, and it is through his untiring efforts that we are gathered here today to officially open another phase of our continuing services to the traveling public. We expect to indefinitely continue to provide the essential services, because we have a legislative mandate to do so, so as to advance the interests of the State of New Jersey and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

Driebe read a letter he received from Pennsylvania Governor, William W. Scranton, wherein Governor Scranton praised Driebe in particular, and the Bridge Commission in general, for the interest in behalf of the traveling public and the providing of the booth which will be available to the more than 26,000 drivers who daily use the Route 22 river crossing.

Driebe had particularly warm praise and gratification for Cramer, who provided the building to the Bridge Commission at no cost, on a loan basis. Such unselfishness, he said, makes him particularly proud that he is a Pennsylvania, and a neighbor of Cramer.

The rewards may not be tangible, Driebe added, but they certainly will be forthcoming for the contribution made by the R.C. Cramer Lumber Co. in this instance. The booth will dovetail with the year-long New Jersey Tercentenary celebration, Chairman Driebe said, and he explained that a large sign welcoming travelers to New Jersey, and providing a legend adaptable to the New Jersey Tercentenary celebration is being fabricated and erected by the Commission at a point directly behind the new information booth.

Driebe added that the Commission's Staff had worked out arrangements with the New Jersey Tercentenary Commission, which, in turn, lauded the Bridge Commission for its efforts in providing the information and sign facilities.

Congressman Rooney expressed gratitude to President Johnson and the White House staff for their effort to expedite approval of the loan.

HIS THIRD CADILLAC... HIS FIRST NEW ONE

This man is enjoying his first brand-new Cadillac—after becoming acquainted with the car's unsurpassed value by twice buying used Cadillacs.

He learned that a late model used Cadillac gave him more standard equipment and engineering advances than most new cars.

First of all, while Cadillac's styling was continually refined, it never lost the clean, dignified look that says Cadillac and Cadillac alone. The smooth, quiet performance and complete reliability of his used Cadillac was a constant source of enjoyment. Then, too, he and his family enjoyed luxury and comfort to a degree reserved exclusively for Cadillac owners.

The pride of ownership of so distinctive a car was a never-ending pleasure, for he had the satisfaction—always—of knowing he drove the finest.

When it came time to trade his previously owned Cadillac for a later model, he found its value had held remarkably high... and returned a substantial part of his original investment.

So what could be more natural—or wise—than to make the eventual move to a new Cadillac?

New or used, there is no finer motoring investment than a Cadillac. And new or used, your authorized dealer has one to fit any budget. There's never been a better time to invest in the finest of them all.

Eastern Heart Group Elects New President; Lists Budget

STROUDSBURG—Dr. Robert N. Owens, of Hawley, has been elected president of the Eastern Pennsylvania Heart Assn., which includes Pike, Monroe and Wayne Counties at a recent meeting in Tom Quick's Inn in Milford.

Dr. Owens was selected to succeed Dr. Frank Sills.

Other officers elected were Robert L. Sigal, president-elect; Montgomery F. Crowe, treasurer, and Mrs. Alma Nichols, secretary.

Mrs. William Fogelinski, budget and finance chairman, reported a tentative budget of $9,580 for 1961-62. The report showed $4,436 was collected in heart drives in Monroe, Wayne and Pike Counties.

Of this total, 40 per cent will go to the American and Pennsylvania Heart Association for research and services.

The local association's program for the coming year includes professional education, $1,150; public education, $4,120; public information, $890; community services, $2,200; fund raising, $580; and administration, $580.

Mrs. Oliver's Report

Mrs. Dorothy Oliver, executive director, reported an intensive program of public information about cardiovascular diseases will be one of the features in this year's program.

Mrs. Oliver's annual report also pointed out:

- The association sponsored a Nurse's Cardiac Seminar on "Stroke Rehabilitation."
- Film and scientific publications were made available by the heart association and used widely by area doctors.
- Professional periodicals were sent to doctors and hospital libraries. Educational material was sent to doctors for distribution among their patients.
- A special bureau provided programs for service and women's clubs, volunteer firemen, parent teacher groups, high school and college classes and other community organizations.

With the co-operation of local newspapers and radio stations the public was kept informed about the many phases of the "Heart Story."

A functional heart model was donated to two high schools. Also 67,642 heart pamphlets were distributed in the three-county area.

A rheumatic fever prophylactic program consisting of daily requirements of oral penicillin tablets for medically needy patients was made available on a cost-to-user basis.

A balance due was paid on hospital equipment, donated to the Wayne County Memorial Hospital.

Money was allocated for transportation, food and lodging for the parent of a child admitted to a state hospital for heart surgery.

Parents of convalescing children gained insight and advice from publications such as "Home Care of the Child with Rheumatic Fever," "Have Fun—Get Well" and "101 Questions About Your Child's Heart and Your Own."

Beautiful weather made the trip even more interesting, they said. Their flight by Pan American jet was very comfortable — quite a change for Miss Jewell who, in 1922, flew to London and Paris in a little plane that was "quite rickety."

In Istanbul, the pair met two girls who had been in America, one of whom they had known while she was here attending

Hood College, and visiting in South Sterling.

The trip to Europe was uneventful as far as major calamities were concerned. It was the third such trip for Miss Simons, who was in North China when the Japanese infiltration began, preceding war, and in London when World War II broke out. She admitted a bit of uneasiness about visiting the hot spots near Cyprus this Spring, but noted that there was no difficulty in that area during their stay.

One Excuse Prof Missed

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—An industrial engineering student at New Haven College failed to turn in a mid-term paper on time. But he had an unusual explanation for instructor Gene Simons.

The student said the paper was in his locker at a company where he worked while going to school. The employees were on strike and he couldn't cross the picket line to get to his locker, he said.

Dr. Porter noted that "my association with all concerned has been in every sense rewarding. I only wish that teachers, students, parents and taxpayers would realize the effort that their elected representatives have put forth in their behalf."

A second letter from Dr. Porter, thanking the board, administrators and Authority for the honor accorded to him in the naming of the school auditorium the Richard A. Porter Auditorium, was read by L. Bruce Worrell, vice president of the board.

Dr. Porter said, "Never in my life have I been so honored. I trust you all know that I feel this is a tribute to all of you who have worked so long and diligently on the project. There would be no jointure, no school, no sense of unity without each of you providing his or her share in the effort. I shall always remember the dedication of the auditorium to me was for all of you."

The Rev. Robert Mark, of Hawley, was sworn in as the new member of the board, succeeding Dr. Porter.

With Daniel Robinson taking the chair, the board elected L. Bruce Worrell, Palmyra (Pike), president, and William J. Blewett, Hawley, as vice president, both to serve until the expiration of the regular term in December.

Mrs. Olive Murphy, treasurer, reported a bank balance of $39,222.99. Bills totaling $7,535.15 were ordered paid.

Harold Gumble, chairman of the building committee, discussed the progress meeting with contractors on the site of the renovation of the Hawley Elementary School. The committee was empowered to act on the need for a new boiler and storage tank at the school site.

Gumble also noted that a "four-page list of incomplete items at the new high school" has been compiled and that final payment to firms concerned with these items has been held up, pending completion.

The heating system at the Lakeville School was discussed. No action was taken.

Bids for janitorial supplies were read and the successful bidders were Pennsylvania Paper and Supply; Megaree; Seranton Maintenance and Supply; and D & L Supply. Bids totaled $1,326.99.

General supplies contract went to Roberts and Meek at $5,150.00.

Walter McGinnis, Palmyra (Wayne) was elected delegate to the Legislative Council of the Pennsylvania School Directors Association. Named alternate was Mrs. Gertrude Erk, of Paupack Township.

Maurice Bobst, supervising principal, announced that commencement exercises — the first at the new high school — will take place on Friday, June 12, in the school auditorium.

It was noted that district secretaries may issue working papers during the summer months to students who request them. However, the office at the high school will be open every day during the summer.

An auction will be held on Saturday, June 13, at 1:30 p.m., at the Hawley elementary school.

The meeting time of the joint board was moved up from 9 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Just Between Us —

Every year the Laurel Blossom Princesses get younger, prettier and smarter — which is not necessarily because every year I get older, more wrinkled and a little more confused about things. Sally Ferrebee agrees with me and she in fact, she manages something doing any of those things, how to reverse the process.

Anyway, the girls are even prettier than their pictures, and I can report, as a style note, that they are all wearing their hair longer. As Sally pointed out the Laurel Festival is unique in that it is not a contest to choose the Queen.

"Your colleges selected you to represent them because of your beauty, personality and brains," she told them, "and we're willing to take their judgment. You are bright enough to select the one among you to be your queen and that's what you'll have to do."

Since no queen has ever won by more than one vote, obviously everybody has their own idea of a queen. — or else they're like those Brownies who had the Dickens of a time selecting officers because everybody was voting for herself.

In addition to being delighted to meet all the pretty girls, I also love meeting all the reporters who usually are in a different orbit. Walt Fossa, as president of the Top of the Poonosis, really kept the well-known brief. George and Florence Calovas as hosts made their welcome felt in deeds not words, and Mrs. Shinn made all the laurel corsages.

Betty Miller was still on her feet after graduating to the ranks of the 18-hole golfers at Glen Brook yesterday morning, and being very gracious to host. Speaking of Glen Brook, Women Golfers another budding baby deb, Tracy Shook Salasbon, made her appearance yesterday in time for luncheon with Grandma Henrietta Baldwin.

And the little Rosen twins, who have taken to golf days with delight, had a double reason for celebrating yesterday, with their mother, Ann, and their grandmother, Ann Strickland, both winning prizes.

However, the nestful of baby robins who have been the center of attraction outside the women's locker room window are now ready to leave the nest. Summer is really coming, girls.

Lopat Fired By A's; McGaha Is New Boss

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ed Lopat got the gate Thursday as field manager of the Kansas City Athletics, perennial second division team in the American League.

General Manager Pat Friday said the job would be filled by Mel McGaha, former manager of the Cleveland Indians who joined the A's last season as a coach.

Friday said the Athletics haven't seemed to jell and something had to be done to "jack them up."

"We thought maybe a change in field managers might help," he added. "At any rate, it's worth trying."

Griffith Underdog Against Rodriguez

By BOB MYERS
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Emilie Griffith, the only man to win the world welterweight championship three times, goes into the ring Friday night the underdog against ex-champion Luis Rodriguez.

The 26-year-old Rodriguez remained an 8-5 favorite Thursday to regain the title in their 15-round encounter in the Las Vegas Convention Center.

The match will be nationally televised by ABC, starting at 9 p.m. EST.

Rodriguez took the title from Griffith in March of 1963 in Los Angeles and lost it back the following June in New York.

Both of the 15-round title bouts, and a 10-round back in 1960 when both were contenders, were close, spirited and highly controversial. Split decisions predominated.

The fourth meeting figures to be no different.

Favorite's Role

The Rodriguez pre-fight favoritism primarily is based on one fact, Griffith, after regaining the title from the self-exiled Cuban from Miami, was knocked out in one round by middleweight Hurricane Carter in a non-title fight in December.

The Rodriguez backers, recalling that the late Benny (Kid) Paret floored Griffith in their memorable fight in 1962, figure the 25-year-old New Yorker from the Virgin Islands is vulnerable.

and indicated the firing did not come as a complete surprise.

"When Friday told me they were letting me go, he said they felt it was necessary to make a change to jack up the team," he said. "Well, I'll tell you this. The only way they are going to jack up this team is to add about four or five good ball players."

At Macon, Ga., Finley said "That deal was handled by Pat Friday and I really didn't know much about it," he said, however, that the action was taken with his approval.

McGaha was given a contract for the rest of this season and next year, Finley said, adding, "That's all I have to say about it."

Succeeded Bauer
Lopat, who had served as coach with the club during the 1962 season, took over on the last day of the season when Hank Bauer stepped down. Last season the club had a 73-89 record. So far this season it is 17-35.

Lopat, whose contract runs through the 1965 season, said he had been offered a job as special consultant to work with the young pitchers on the club, but did not plan to take it.

He said he was going home to Hillsdale, N. J., rest and take it easy and "let them pay on the balance of my contract."

Stay In Baseball

He added he wanted to stay in baseball and said he did not feel he would have any trouble getting another job.

McGaha, who never made the major leagues as a player, joined the club last season as a coach at first base. Before that he had managed minor league clubs at Shreveport, La., Mobile, Ala., and Toronto. He became a member of the Cleveland coaching staff in 1961 and the following year was named manager. He was dismissed at the end of the season and replaced by Birdie Tebbets.

Same Staff
McGaha, who flew in from Shreveport, said he planned to retain the present coaching staff and would meet with the players before Friday night's game.

"My association with Ed Lopat has been real good for me," he said. "I've learned a lot about pitching that has been very helpful."

FINE START By Alan Mayer

Voting To Start For All-Star Tilt

By JACK HANCOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Now that it is official that Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox will manage the American League team in the All Star Game, July 7 at Shea Stadium, the commissioner's office is ready to start the voting.

Representatives of Commissioner Ford Frick will visit clubhouses, starting Monday, to poll the players, coaches and managers of each of the 20 major league teams. The results of the balloting will not be released until June 21 in the American League and June 23 in the National League.

The players, coaches and managers will pick the eight starters in their league. They can not vote for any players on their own teams.

The remainder of the 25-man squads, including all of the pitchers, will be selected by the managers, Lopez and Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers for the National League. They can divide their squads by positions in any manner they desire, although each team must have at least one representative on the team.

Lopez became the manager when Ralph Houk, manager of the 1963 pennant winning New York Yankees, moved up to become general manager. Precedent dictates that, instead of naming Houk's successor, Yogi Berra, the manager of the second-place team gets the honors.

In the series dating back to 1933, the American League holds a 17-16 edge. Ticket prices for the game are $8.40 for box seats, $6.30 and $4.20 for reserved grandstand and $2.10 for unreserved upper grandstand.

Little League Roundup

MT. POCONO — Mt. Pocono Rotary yesterday defeated Cramer's 12-0, behind a combined no-hit performance by Joe Caligieri and Doug DeHaven in a Pocono Mountain Little League game.

Caligieri struck out 12 batters over the first five innings. Reliever DeHaven finished up the last frame and struck out two.

Caligieri also homered in the third with two runners aboard and swatted a pair of doubles for a total of seven RBI.

The win was the first for the Rotary club in eight games. Mike McDonough, the losing pitcher, struck out nine.

REEDERS — Melvin Abel slammed two home runs to pace Tobyhanna to a 16-2 triumph over Reeders yesterday in a Pocono Mountain Little League contest.

Richard Nicholas, who struck out eight batters, was the winning pitcher.

TANNERSVILLE — Jim Patton and Ed Hara combined a two-hitter for Tannersville which trimmed Pocono Lions yesterday, 4-0, in a Pocono Mountain Little League clash.

Batton also swatted a homer for the winners. Knight got the only two hits for the Lions.

BARRETT — Marvin's TV defeated Barrett 18-10 in a Little League game last night.

Boss Garbis was the winning pitcher. He allowed six hits and 11 walks. Butch Little was the losing pitcher. Tommy Little also lured for the leers.

It was Marvin's third straight win, bringing their record to 4-5. Barrett now owns a 7-2 mark.

Tommy LaBar and Rick Murphy led Marvin's attack with two hits each. Jim Reilly Jr. and Tommy Lewis paced the losers with two safeties apiece.

Appoint Philley

HOUSTON (AP) — Dave Philley, former major leaguer, was appointed Thursday as manager of the Houston Colts, a new team in the Florida Rookie League.

3-Team Swap

Power Traded By Minnesota

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Twins put sentiment aside Thursday and cut loose two of the fans' favorites in a three-team swap for more bench strength.

The Twins dealt fancy-fielding first baseman Vic Power and littled - used outfielder Lenny Green in the five-player trade with Cleveland and Los Angeles.

Minnesota acquired infielders Jerry Kindall and Frank Kostrko. Here is the way the dealing went, in a straight swap with no cash involved:

Goes To Angels

Power goes to the Angels, who in turn send infielder Billy Morra to Cleveland. The Indians send Kindall to the Twins. Green goes to Los Angeles for Kostrko, who is now with Hawaii in the Pacific Coast League.

Power, 32, leaves after two full seasons with the Twins in which he enjoyed devoted support of a host of fans who loved his bubble-gum blowing and his one-handed fielding gems.

Power was displaced this season in the shift that saw Bob Allison take over first and Tony Oliva go to right field. Power was hitting .223 in 45 times at bat — virtually all as a pinch hitter.

Displaced By Hall

Green joined the Twins in 1959 and was a consistent unspectacular performer in center field until displaced by Jimmie Hall last year. He was 0-for-15 in pinch hitting attempts this year. At Los Angeles, he joins Albie Pearson, the man he was traded for in 1959.

Kindall, 29, went to Cleveland from the Chicago Cubs in 1961 after the Cubs signed him off the University of Minnesota campus. He has played short, second base and first base for Cleveland. He's batted 25 times for a .360 average this year.

Hoop Awards

Basketball players receiving awards were Gerald Hardy, Joseph Dougherty, Richard Dishman, Dale Rush, Fred Callies, Michael Ryan, Gerald Pratt, George Kutudis, Kevin Lewis, James Vogt and Paul Reiz.

Also, Paul Miller, James Kresge, Glenn Storm, Steven Gravel, John Ashcroft, Michael Hardy, Paul Keith Megargle and Fred Callies.

Baseball certificate winners were Gerald Hardy, Joseph Dougherty, Joseph Horan, Dal Rush, Fred Callies, Michael Ryan, Michael Hardy, James Kresge, Steven Gravel, Paul Keith Megargle, George Kutudis, Kevin Lewis, Daniel Bloom, Lawrence Hardy, James Triano and Michael Landi.

Cheerleaders presented with certificates were Diana Conacher, Adelaide Wolfe, Shavne Koehler, Helen Sosa, Barbara Christman, Lorie Ann Krummell, Gloria Emmanuel and Mary Narbis.

When the two-day meet starts at Wimbledon Friday, three stars of recent cup encounters will be missing — Darlene Hard and Mrs. Karen Susman from the American team and Christine Truman from the British.

Miss Hard has turned professional. Mrs. Susman recently returned to the game after having a baby, and was not chosen. Miss Truman is injured.

Feel The Pinch
Both sides have been reshuffled, and the British seem to be feeling the pinch most. They have won only two of the 18 competitions since play was resumed after World War II.

Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., last year's Wimbledon runner-up, steps up to No. 1 in the American team, Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., is No. 2 and Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Calif., No. 3.

The British have Mrs. Ann Haydon Jones and Deldre Catt as their leading singles players. No. 3 is Elizabeth Starkey, who has been badly out of form this season.

OMAHA (AP) — Rain and a soggy playing field forced postponement of the NCAA baseball World Series Thursday.

San Francisco (AP) — Edie Mathews drove in four runs, three with a bases-loaded double in the eighth inning, powering Milwaukee to a 6-5 victory over San Francisco Thursday despite the Giants' three-run rally in the ninth.

The loss knocked the Giants out of first place in the National League, putting them seven percentage points behind idle Philadelphia.

The Giants tried to pull it out in the ninth against Tony Cloninger, third Braves' pitcher. Jim Hart singled and Jim Davenport walked before pinch hitter Duke Snider doubled for one run. After Del Crandall grounded out, Jesus Alou singled home Davenport and Snider. Cloninger, however, then got Harvey Kuenn to hit into a double play.

Felipe Alou's home run off Ken MacKenzie in the ninth turned out to be the winning run.

The Braves scored three runs in the eighth when Kuenn hit Mathews' soft fly ball to right field in the sun. Mathews also knocked in a run in the seventh with a sacrifice fly.

Warren Spahn and Jack Sanford battled on scoreless innings through six innings with Sanford allowing the Braves only two hits.

Spahn was driven from the mound in the eighth after giving a home run to Kuenn and walking Willie McCovey.

Slum At Shea

NEW YORK—Little boys visiting Shea Stadium for the first time clutch the hand tightly of their father and they sit transfixed.

Chances are they began at Grand Central where they caught the subway that hauls World's Fair tourists and Met fans to the same station in Flushing.

Disembarking from the train, they instantly were swept up in a swarm of humans creating a scene hardly suggesting the reposed qualities, say, of a Mediterranean cruise.

Shea Stadium is located between the LaGuardia and Kennedy airports in New York. The park is pretty much in the takeoff pattern of the planes leaving LaGuardia. Just about every minute, the stands vibrate and all sound at the stadium is suffocated by the roar of an aircraft zooming overhead.

The management explains that things are considerably better today than they were last month. Accusing the pilots of buzzing the ball park willfully, the Mets complained to authorities, offering serial numbers of planes that come over at straining level.

It was a clear case of violating the air space of the New York team, and, when Mrs. Payson, the sugar momma of the Mets, threatened to build a fighter group to drive off intruders, the commercial planes re-routed.

Now they take off, still deafeningly, behind the left field fence.

Nor is a contribution to peace and quiet made by helicopters which take people for rides at the Fair and clack and chug above the stadium. The seats also tremble from the subway trains, and you find, even when the teams are changing sides, that you are strangely stimulated; in fact, just a step removed from a dangerous derangement.

The Mets would like the world to believe that cunningly they have introduced the elements of fun and excitement to baseball, but, as is often the case with genius, they have merely lucked into it.

They have landed unwittingly in an area boiling with animation. Their team has provided a quality of comedy needed to complete the picture, and you just can't deny that a game on a lively day in Shea Stadium is sports' most stirring show.

The upshot is that the Mets have drawn 587,369 for their first 20 dates at home, running some 200,000 ahead of last year's attendance at a comparable stage.

When you note that the Yankees have drawn but 241,000 for their first 17 home dates, you get a pretty good insight into the lunacy that has seized New Yorkers today.

A Met executive doesn't boast. Instead, he expresses compassion for the Yankees.

"We feel sorry for them," he says. "They are nice people and they have a good ball club."

What the Yanks don't have is a peculiar following that screams aloud for the team to win, but hopes quietly it loses.

This appears to be the psyche of the Met fan, who, a visitor is surprised to see, isn't the goonie bird that he often is painted. The Met fan has only one head, two arms, two legs and the usual number of toes and fingers. He is, among other things, New York society, it now having become fashionable to slum at Shea Stadium.

The Diamond Club, the Shea equivalent of O'Malley's Stadium Club, lists 5,000 members, all of whom are season boxholders. Yearly dues to the club run $20 a seat, which means that the Mets have opened with a cushion of $100,000.

Their attendance doesn't match that of the Dodgers, but it must be remembered that every Met home game is televised.

Fumbling to explain their success, the Mets claim that they have captured the hearts of the kids, who embrace the new team as something of their own, not inherited from their parents or relatives.

Others insist that the Mets appeal to the rebellious nature of young America which will back a loser in defiance of conventionality.

Whatever the explanation, even Leo Durocher, a man of calloused ways, is impressed. Invited to appear on the telecast between games of the doubleheader last Sunday, Leo calmly asked a fee of $1,000.

"Are they playing any benefits for Mrs. Payson?" he demanded. "I want a grand, or I don't show."

Regrettably, he settled for less.

Cubs' Jackson Wins 8th, 6-3

NEW YORK (AP)—Ron Santo drove in three runs with a two-run homer and a single Thursday as Larry Jackson won his eighth game for the Chicago Cubs, beating the New York Mets 6-3.

Jim Stewart, the Cubs' rookie second baseman, singled the first two times up against loser

Bill Wakefield and was hit by a pitch in the fifth before his two-game streak was snapped at six straight hits. Carl Willey, Wakefield's relief man, made Stewart fly out in the seventh. Santo's eighth homer of the year came in the first after Stewart singled and was forced by Lou Brock. Brock's double, following a hit batsman and a stolen base by Stewart added another run in the fifth.

The Mets got to Jackson for a run in the sixth on singles by Ron Hunt and Jesse Gonder and a force out. Ed Kranepool's double, stretching his batting streak to 12 games, drove in the second run in the eighth. Chicago 200 010 111—6 12 1 New York 000 001 011—3 9 1 Jackson, Willey (7), Locke (9) and Gonder, Cannizzaro (7), W-Jackson 8-4, L-Wakefield 3-2. Home runs—Chicago, Santo (8).

STROUDSBURG — Shirley Christman and Joan Brown tied for the 18-hole Calloway tournament at the Glen Brook Women's Golf Assn. matches yesterday, with Mrs. Christman also tying for low gross honors with Peg Cramer.

Ann Rosen was the winner of the nine-hole tournament with Betty McCambridge winning low gross.

Putting prizes went to Peg Cramer with 29 for the 18 holes, with Ann Strickland and Mrs. McCambridge tying with 15 for the nine-hole tournament.

Mrs. Peter Wyckoff presided at the luncheon, welcoming a group of four nine-hole golfers who have graduated to the 18-hole tournament. Mrs. M. S. Baldwin, golf chairman, read invitations from the York Women Golfers, and for Shawnee Day at Shawnee Inn, June 23.

Next week will be a Crier's Tournament, by which time handicaps must be established.

Blind Youngster Learns To Ride

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP)—David Davies, 21-year-old Hillside, N. J., sophomore at the University of Bridgeport, takes his saddle and bridle off the stable wall every Thursday morning around 8:30 and walks over to Mr. E's stall. He leads the big gelding out of the stall and saddles up for a couple of turns around the riding stable.

Davies is in the second semester of physical education class 60 at UB. It's about learning to ride horses. Davies is blind.

Remarkable Person "Dave," says UB riding instructor Lloyd Humphrys, "is the most remarkable person I've ever known." The muscular, future medical-school worker, without complete vision 15 years, is one of his most advanced students, Humphrys acknowledges.

Davies has been completely blind six years. In childhood, he contracted unitis, an eye infection, which gradually took him into darkness.

If the loss of his vision was a terrible blow for him, Dave has made a remarkable rebound. His darkness was only in his eyes, he declares. And he started out to make himself no different from anyone else.

Adapts Himself

Through the first years of his changing life he learned to adapt himself to the suspected inevitable which occurred when he was 15. He began to relearn by touch and memory all that which was most familiar to him by sight.

Going into high school, he took a deep interest in sports. He attended all physical education classes and participated in callisthenics with considerably more enthusiasm than most high school students. He ran in track events while holding on to a classroom for direction.

His horseback riding class is one of several non-credit physical education courses, such as archery, golf and tennis, required of all UB students for graduation.

CHICAGO (AP)—Brooks Robinson's two-run homer with two out in the eighth gave the Baltimore Orioles a 3-1 victory over the first-place Chicago White Sox Thursday.

Robinson's game-deciding hit, breaking a 1-1 tie created by home runs, came off ace reliever Hoyt Wilhelm, who had spelled rookie Fred Talbot at the start of the eighth. Talbot, who made his major league debut as a starter, had allowed seven hits before he was pulled.

Mill Pappas was credited for the victory which shaved Chicago's American League lead to 1½ games over Baltimore, but he yielded to Stu Miller after seven innings.

The 22-year-old Talbot, who previously had pitched only 4-2-3 major league innings, was joined by Luis Aparicio for a sixth-inning homer, tying the score.

The Sox had taken a 1-0 lead at the very outset when Tom McCraw led off the first with his third homer of the season. After that, Pappas kept the Sox pretty well tamed.

Trinidad Runner Credits Yale Coach

By LOU BLACK
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Wendell Adrian Mottley, fleet-footed Olympic prospect from Trinidad, credits his Yale University coach for making him a world record runner.

He means Bob Gielegack, America's Olympic track team coach, whose job it will be to produce champions speedier than Mottley, among others, in the Tokyo Olympics next October.

"My success must be attributed to the fine coaching I have received here at Yale," says the modest Mottley, 22, a fierce competitor from Port au Spain.

"Mr. Mottley is a terrific young man, wonderful in every way, easy to coach, a top student with a great future," says Gielegack.

Mottley figures to be a favorite in the 400-meter run in the Olympics.

The trim 163-pound 5-foot-11 Yale track captain showed his greatness in February when he recorded world indoor 440-yard and 600-yard standards.

He opened the month by racing the 440 in 48 seconds flat at Boston, trimming two-tenths of a second off the 22-year-old mark held by Roy Cochran.

Snaps Standard The sturdy, bespectacled Mottley ended the month by snapping the 600 standard with a blistering 1:03.2 at Ithaca, N.Y. He sliced one-tenth of a second off the listed mark set by George Kerr in 1961.

Mottley, who also competes brilliantly in the relays and other races, says: "There is nothing so inspiring as winning as a team and as an individual."

He is happy at Yale, though he might have been competing for either Oxford or Harvard, instead.

Large Family The oldest of eight children, Wendell, a graduate of Queens Royal College in his home community, was headed for Oxford where he was accepted on the recommendation of John Jeffreys, a member of the British consulate.

But when unable to get sufficient financial aid, Mottley applied at Yale and Harvard. Both offered scholarships, but Yale's was the better one, he explains.

A serious young man, yet with a ready wit, Mottley has been as adept at schoolwork as at sports.

"My mother was brilliant and my father conscientious," he says with a twinkling eye and a smile, explaining his fondness for studies at an early age.

Honor Student Mottley is the son of a retired government accountant. He was an honor student in Trinidad where besides English, history and literature, he studied in cricket, soccer and track.

He says track and studies "actually complement one another," and during his four years at Yale he has been a ranking scholar. He majors in economics, and has been active in many social organizations.

Mottley likes the Ivy League's philosophy of athletics.

Cy Barrett Says Humbugged, Start Anew

By Cyrus Barrett, Jr.
DEAR CY:
At 45, I found so much difficulty finding employment. I decided to take a course in practical nursing. The representative of a correspondence school told me, if I received passing grades, I would get a diploma entitling me to go before the state board for exams. If I passed their examination, I could get a practical nursing license. I received no grade but low 90 and got my diploma. It didn't entitle me to go before the state board (I learned), but the course cost me a considerable amount of money. Should I go into baby sitting?

MARY AMHERST
DEAR MARY:
Use whatever knowledge you gained from the course and secure your state license by attending a state approved school. Baby sitting does not pay nearly as well or as steadily. And practical nursing can give you 20 to 25 years of productive employment. For training, check with your local hospitals or the state board of nursing.

You may also wish to write the National Association for Practical Nurse Education and Service, 475 Riverside Drive, New York City. This humbugger salesman, who sold you the course, bugs me. He knew you could never go farther than a revolving door with his tawdry diploma. Preying on those needing employment and enterprising enough to retain themselves in insidious business. And just as bad: this man gives a black mark to home study, an industry which is doing an excellent job.

DEAR CY:
Your readers, who complain about how little their boss works, should know of my boss. He operates three companies and an auto accident put him in the hospital for over a month. While in traction, he set up an office in his hospital room. It included files, a nurse who doubled as secretary, and a barrage of phone calls. Without doing this, his businesses would probably be as badly fractured as he was. How's that for a working boss?

HICKEY
DEAR HICKEY:
Last year, while visiting a sick friend, I was introduced to a theatre owner who shared the hospital room. The latter was a heart patient, and proceeded to play the role of Iron Man in bed. He continued to cook films for his two movie houses and went directly from the hospital to the mortician. Fortunately, your employer is not in such danger, but I don't admire those who convert hospital beds into business trampolines. It would seem sparks from the auto crash would signal a time to delegate authority.

DEAR MADGE AND JOEL:
Given the choice between no rent for no rent or a vacancy, you'll probably get a new tenant quickly, and disintegration of nerves and property is minimized. This two-way check family is giving you the merry flip-flop.

Estimate how much, in addition to the monthly rental, they can afford to pay and reduce the debt. Notify Mr. and Mrs. they are to make these payments at a specific time or you will take "drastic action" through your attorney. If no payment at the appointed hour, carry out your threat. Few things gnaw at the stomach tissue like uncollected debts. With the days getting longer and life getting shorter, deal with those who don't clash with your cash.

Excise Taxes May Be Cut After 19 'Temporary' Years

By Richard Spong
Editorial Research Reports
WASHINGTON — The House Ways and Means Committee on Monday, June 15 begins a lengthy series of hearings on excise taxes imposed during World War II and the Korean War.

Excise taxes are as annoying as a burr in a legging — and a good deal harder to get rid of. The "temporary" taxes enacted to pay for World War II are still being levied 19 years after its close. So are the taxes imposed more than a decade ago during the Korean War.

Now the outlook is for some relief but probably not until 1966. Chairman Wilbur Mills (D. Ark.) of the House Ways and Means Committee proposes, with the full support of President Johnson, a long study of the specific effects of excise taxes over the past decade.

The committee hearings will spread over the record a vast amount of data which will aid the Treasury next year in drafting recommendations for repeal or modification. According to the schedule, Congress would act on these in 1966.

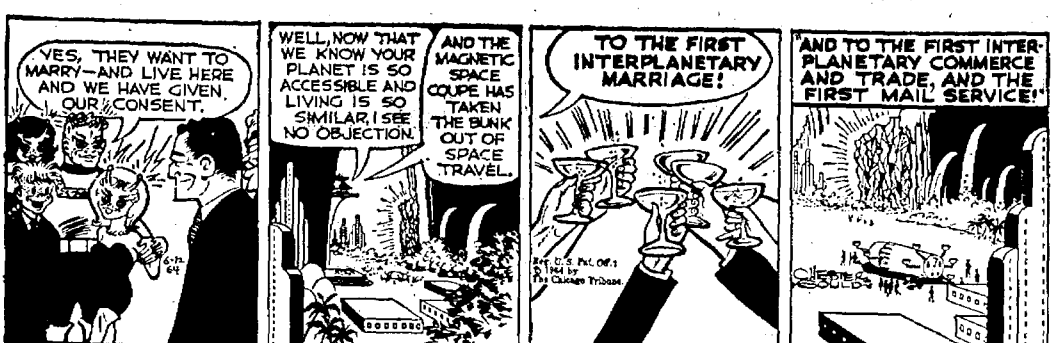

Mills does not intend to touch special levies on gasoline, tires and tubes, tread rubber, diesel fuel, truck use and trucks, buses, and trailers. The more than $3 billion these produce is allocated to the highway trust fund.

Other unlikely candidates for repeal are the whisky and tobacco excise taxes. These bring

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Friday, June 12, 1964
March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Determining goals, aims. Some work will be towarded soon, some later, but no good effort will be overlooked.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — To understand others and their anxieties will be half the problem. Going your own way will sound good, but actually cause delays. Let cooperation be your byword.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Sound investments will repay soon. Some setbacks are inevitable, but don't let them upset you. Accurate the positive.

June 22 to July 21 (Cancer) — Meetings, agreements, business, generally call for thoroughness, accuracy. Study suggestions carefully. Your own mind should help you separate the chaff from the wheat quickly.

July 22 to August 21 (Leo) — Rash moves, hasty decisions could upset an otherwise pleasing day. Maintain equanimity. New benefits awaited.

August 22 to September 21 (Virgo) — Expert pressure in difficult areas, but do NOT over-stress. Strive only for the best. You should do well now.

September 22 to October 21 (Libra) — Hasty decisions will carry the day. Keenly observe those little things that tend to get "lost" in the shuffle.

October 22 to November 21 (Scorpio) — Expected (and real) now: intellectual pursuits, financial studies, outdoor activities. Careful consideration should work out well.

November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — You may find favor with unusual situations, but your limited good judgment, stability of purpose and your own knowledge will see you through.

December 22 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Unpleasant circumstances with a broad view. Let time (and by talking, matters) not relate. Aim only for the north, while and you should have a good day.

January 22 to February 21 (Aquarius) — Planetary aspects suggest that you keep functioning from a bounding out of bounds. Don't interrupt a sound schedule for sporadic impulses of "attractive" but unprofitable activities.

February 22 to March 21 (Pisces) — Opposition should not keep you from carrying out well-laid plans. If sure you are on the right track, move forward assuredly. And stick with your goal.

YIP BOB! TODAY are artistic endeavors often better with a combination of art and a little hands. You must shortly to situations, are normally, you "beaver" leave" where anything is concerned. And your ideas spring up as from a mighty underground stream. As one idea strikes, others follow upon it. Avoid fatigue and excessive speculation. You are a keen thinker, promoter, doer — but not a specialist in whatever you undertake. Self mastery is a "must". Many eloquent, glib, mischievous and organizers have been Gemini-born.

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—New Jersey's unpledged Republican delegation has taken a "show me" attitude and invited the leading contenders for the GOP presidential nomination to a June 16 meeting to sell their wares.

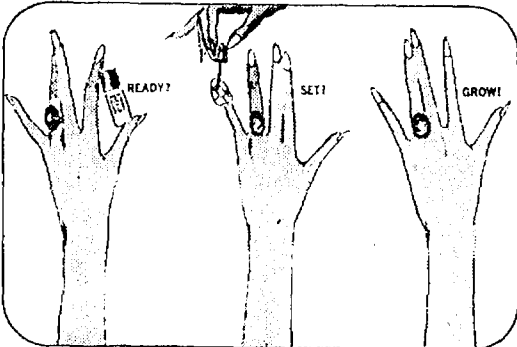

State Chairman Webster B. Todd said this week. Invitations were sent U. S. Sen. Barry Goldwater, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and U. S. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

Todd said Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania is scheduled to speak June 23 in Newark at a GOP fund-raising dinner, and New Jersey's delegates will have a chance to size him up there. Scranton has said he is not a candidate but would not refuse a sincere draft.
